

TELEGRAPHIC.

---

YESTERDAY'S NOON DISPATCHES.

News from the Army of the Potomac.

---

More About the Battle on Monday.

---

Our Losses 300 in Killed, Wounded and Missing.

---

Maj. Elkert, of the 64th Michigan, Killed.

The Enemy's Loss Probably 1,500.

---

Capture of 200 Prisoners and 10
Commissioned Officers.

---

General Ewell in Command of the Rebels.

---

General Lee Reported Wounded.

---

A Rebel General and Two Colonels Killed.

---

Rebel Ram Tennessee in Mobile Bay

---

Sinking of the Transport Steamer Pocahontas.

---

The Captain and 49 of Her Crew and Passengers Lost.

Congressional Proceedings.

NEW YORK, June 3.

The Herald's Fifth army corps correspondent says of the battle on Monday:

At six p. m. the enemy attacked our line. It was a general and sudden attack. They advanced in two lines of battle and a heavy skirmish line. Simultaneously with the opening of a volley of musketry, cannon, solid shot and shell from angry mouths, a score or more came on. Firm and unshaken stood our men. The rebels shot too high, and our men

Our artillery, which had been in position, opened a responsive fire to the enemy's cannon. Assault after assault was made by the desperate foe, but each time our troops hurled back the U. S. line. The gallant division thus became more repeated and the enemy sought to turn his left; but each time they were handsomely repulsed. More than special glory was won by the men meeting and repelling these assaults. The Pennsylvania reserves behaved magnificently. In the division's bold advance, its right flank was Gen. McCook and his troops, and its left for the first time under fire; they behaved like veterans. Col. Kitching's brigade of heavy artillery, yet new in the field, stood their ground with the resoluteness of veterans. This brigade alone captured 300 prisoners. The rebels fled in confusion, our leading division the rebels, as stated above, and occupying the battle ground. Our losses are 330 killed, wounded and missing. Among the killed was Major Etkin, of the Sixty fourth Michigan regiment.

The enemy's loss was much heavier—probably 1,500. We took 230 prisoners—among them two commissioned officers. Among the dead there is said to have been found a rebel General and two Colonels.

The Tribune's correspondent with Butler says that when orders were received to send re-enforcements to Grant a pontoon had been laid across the Appomattox. His men were to march that night to attack Petersburg, but were ordered to move in another direction. The investigation furnished no details, and the press report shows that everything that can be ascertained has been sent to Lee. About 15,000 troops are located at Petersburg, in our front, and in the defenses around Richmond on the south side.

NEW YORK, June 3.

The steam transport Clio of Baltimore, which sailed from New York on the 1st for the Chesapeake, returned yesterday evening with her bows stove in and her stern cracked and leaking. Collided off Cape May with the steam transport Pocahontas, Captain Buxton, from New Orleans, bound to New York. The Pocahontas was sunk, carrying down forty of her crew the passengers, including Captain Baxter. They were some of the damned souls. Among them were some soldiers returning home on furlough and sick.

NEW YORK, June 3.

The Herald's Mexican correspondent says the Juarez Government has been perfectly established at Monterey. The Liberals, more than 40,000, are preparing to march on Potosi. The French and Imperialists have been completely routed, and there is great enthusiasm for the national cause.

NEW YORK, June 3.

The Tribune says a letter from Rescos says that information brought by the Admiral to the 21st ultimo reports that the rebel ram

Tennessaw was in Mobile bay, staming at the rate of nine miles per hour.

WASHINGTON, June 3.

Secretary Chan sold $1,000,000 worth of gold to day at 90@91.

The paragraph is the Congressional proceedings of yesterday, relative to the tax on tobacco. Was income tax, it should have read—on tobacco, Cavendish, plug, twist, and all other descriptions from which the stem has been taken out in whole or in part, or which is sweetened, including fluecuet and flaccet; shoria, 354 per pound.

FORTRESS MONROE, June 2.

A steamer from Bermuda headed, with news from our last engagement, has arrived. At seven o'clock yesterday morning the enemy attacked but being repulsed, but were repulsed. Our loss was slight.

The steamer Washington, from Walpole, has arrived here.

It is reported that Fitzhugh's Lse and five hundred of his command were captured last night while attempting to make a raid in the direction of Washington.

Gen. Smith's force made the capture. No later news from Grant.

CINCINNATI, June 3.

River falls 6 inches. Weather clear. Thermometer 73; barometer 29.50.

PITTSBURG, June 3.

BRUTAL MURDER—A brutal murder occurred on Tuesday last near Lewisport, in Hancock county. The facts as detailed to us are as follows: A dissipated, worthless character, named Richard Newman, having a small claim against a young man, named Charles Lott, demanded its payment. Lott, on being prepared at the time, gave him promise of future payment. In the afternoon, while riding from Lewisport and sitting astride on his horse reading a letter, he was shot and killed from the roadside by Newman, who had waylaid him.

and has last left school in the upper part of this county, and is represented as a worthy young man, whose death is greatly deplored by those who knew him. An accomplice of similar character, named Eubanks, was at large at last accounts.

[Owensboro (Ky.) Monitor, 1st.

WHIPPED FOR BEING LUCKY.—One of our German fellow-citizens has a young boy who is apt to make mistakes in the difference between meum and them. Much complaint was made against the lad, and many a lecture and restitution had followed. Last week, however, the old man changed his base of operation.

"Hans, where you gets that knife?" asked the old man.

"I thots him, farder," replied the hopeful.

"No, Hans, I b'lieves you tell us tan lie."

"No, farder, that be true—I is the luckiest boy as you never see."

"Well, Hans, I hant to rip you."

"Not cause I steels, farder?"

"No, Hans, I vips you cause you is no tan lucky."

And tan him be did. Hans isn't so "lucky" under the new treatment.—(Springfield paper,

The great circus of Robinson & H. gives a performance in Portland to-day.

Interest Paid on Certificate Deposits.
HUGHES & ROBINS, Bankers
No. 517 Main st., bet. Fifth and Sixth

For sale by WHEAT & CO.,
Market Street Architectural Foundry
between Eighth and Ninth
Jul 1892

BY UNDERJUVENILE,
PUBLISHED IN THE SCHOOL AND FAMILY
FOR, corner Third and Green streets, Jed

WHITE FISH, -21 HALF BARRELS WHITE FISH
 In store and for sale by
GRIFFITH & BOARD,
 133 1/2 St. Jackson county. The legal reward will be paid for apprehension and confinement.

WM. MAXOV,
 Preston st., bet. Main and Market.

